Summary School Self-Evaluation Report

1. Introduction

A school self-evaluation of teaching and learning in Swords Educate Together National School was undertaken during the period September 2012 to September 2013. This focused on the areas of literacy and numeracy. Following staff discussion and detailed analysis of the previous year's standardised test results in Reading and Mathematics, it was decided that our specific focus for 2012-2013 should be on literacy.

As an Educate Together school, Swords Educate Together National School is a co-educational, multi-denominational, democratic and child-centred school. In June 2011 we moved into a new school building with excellent facilities. Currently there are 444 pupils enrolled in the school. The teaching staff consists of 16 mainstream class teachers, 6 learning support/resource teachers and 1 shared learning support teacher (based in another school). The administrative principal is Fiona Rushe, the deputy principal is Karl Breen and there are currently four Special Needs Assistants on staff. We have two school secretaries (one full-time and one part-time), one part-time cleaner and two part-time caretakers.

Our school ethos is reflected in our school vision statement which states that No Child is an Outsider. As a school we strive to achieve high standards in teaching and learning as well as promoting our school's cherished ethos. We endeavour to provide a safe and supportive environment within which the children can reach their full potential. SETNS seeks to provide and promote a happy, safe, caring learning environment with parents, pupils and staff working together.

We have a number of programmes operating in the school including Aistear, Early Intervention Programmes, Building Bridges of Understanding and Peer Tutoring. There are a range of afterschool extra-curricular classes and Religion Classes operating in the school. Our school attendance levels are of a very high standard 96%. Our pupils' behaviour is excellent and this is strongly linked to our Positive Code of Behaviour Policy and school ethos. For more information on how we intend to improve our pupils' learning, please see our School Improvement Plan which is available on this website and accompanies this document.

1.1 The focus of the evaluation

We undertook a school self-evaluation of teaching and learning during the above period. We evaluated the areas of literacy and numeracy. We chose literacy as our area of focus for 2012-2013 because we felt that our pupils could improve their learning outcomes in this area. We also set out aspects of Numeracy for an area of focus in 2013-2014 all the while developing Literacy in our school.

This report summarises the strengths that were identified and the areas that have been prioritised for improvement.

2. Summary of school self-evaluation findings

We collected information from parents/guardians, pupils and teachers in preparing this report. We looked at how well our pupils were doing in Reading and Writing. We also reviewed standardised test results and teacher observation. Analysis of literacy levels indicates that in general children are achieving very high levels of attainment. Standardised test results indicate that children at all class levels from First Class upwards are performing significantly above national average levels. Children in Senior Infants are assessed in the 2nd term and results indicate that they are generally performing above average in all areas.

2.1 We found that our school has strengths in the following areas:

Strengths

- The overall attainment of the pupils in the area of literacy is of a very high standard
- Pupils enjoy literacy activities and are motivated to learn
- A safe, stimulating learning environment is provided for pupils
- Motivated students and supportive parents – Book Fair, World Book Day, Spelling Bee, Library Activities, School Newsletter, Ipads (SEN)
- Pupils have limited access to ICT, however, where possible they are enabled to use it to present and illustrate their work e.g. word processing and photo stories
- Variety of approaches/methods/initiatives e.g. Numeracy Read Underline Draw Estimate (RUDE), Peer Tutoring, Early Intervention, Building Bridges of Understanding, First Steps Writing genres
- Collaborative Planning and Early Intervention Programmes
- Enthusiastic, diverse staff from different training colleges means a wide range of expertise and methodologies
- Good bank of resources in all subject areas
- New initiatives e.g. Building Bridges have had very positive outcomes.

We know these are our strengths because we conducted a review of teachers' practices with regard to teaching and learning and carried out surveys with parents and pupils.

2.2 We have decided to prioritise the following areas for development:

Areas for development

- The development of reading approaches with particular emphasis on comprehension strategies
- The development of writing with particular emphasis on the writing genres
- The development of Oral Language approaches with particular emphasis on oral language games and approaches
- The development of spelling lists and strategies/skills
- Development of the Aistear Framework
- Textbooks – judicious use of and review of textbooks in light of book rental implementation
- Review of maths language and problem solving strategies e.g. RUDE

We have decided to prioritise these areas because they are areas of focus arising from evidence gathered from assessment of Literacy and Numeracy in SETNS.
